We've picked a DAISY!

University of Maryland
St. Joseph Medical Center is proud to present the DAISY Award to Medical-
Surgical Nurse
Samantha

“Sami” Morris, RN.

DAISY winner
Sami Morris, RN,
proudly poses
with her award.

Sami was recognized for her above-and-beyond caring—and the joy with which she performed even the smallest task—which made a huge impression and brought comfort and warmth to a patient and family during a very trying time.

From K.M., the patient's granddaughter:

Sami goes the extra mile, wanting to make sure her patients are well taken care of, and you can tell she is just happy to be a nurse!

From the simple task of getting my grandfather comfortably settled in his hospital bed to grabbing a warm blanket when he needed it, Sami made my grandfather feel cared about—and not just another patient.

My family and I cannot thank Sami enough...She is well deserving of this award!

Thank you, Sami!
